It's What We Catholics Do

In his book "Sacred Fire," which we shall be treating at length beginning tomorrow evening in the Adult Religious Education Series, Fr. Ronald Rolheiser makes the distinction between two types of prayer: liturgical and private. Both are necessary, but both have different purposes. Private prayer takes many different forms including meditation, centering prayer, all kinds of devotional prayer, the rosary, etc. Its aim is to draw us into a deeper intimacy with Christ. It stresses the "vertical dimension" of our faith, the personal relationship each of us has with God.

Liturgical prayer, on the other hand, is the public prayer of the Church. It includes the Mass, the sacraments and the Divine Office. It is nothing less than Christ's own prayer to His Father for the world, done through the Church. In the words of Fr. Rolheiser: "The Christian belief is that Christ is still gathering us together around His Word and is still offering an eternal act of love for the world. As an extension of that we believe that whenever we meet together, in a church or elsewhere, to gather around the scriptures or to celebrate the Eucharist we are entering into that prayer. This is liturgical prayer – Christ's prayer, not our own."

When we engage in this liturgical prayer, we enter into the "horizontal" dimension of our faith, experiencing the presence of God in each other, all members of the Body of Christ. No one can doubt that Jesus wanted us to pray in this manner. At the end of the Last Supper, the first Mass, if you will, He turned to his friends and said "Do this in memory of me."

And so, we have done just that for two millennia. Sometimes it will be a small and intimate Mass with just a few people. Sometimes, it will be an extraordinarily large Mass such as Pope Francis celebrated in Philadelphia with more than a million souls. Either way, and every way in between, it's what we Catholics do. We join ourselves to the eternal offering of Christ to the Father in the Holy Spirit. We present ourselves to be part of that offering, and then we receive the return of our gift from the Father, nothing less than the Body of Christ. No wonder Jesus asked us to "do this in memory of me."

Words of Pope Francis

"The Lord did not want to leave the Church without this icon of womanhood. Mary, who brought him into the world with great faith, also accompanies 'the rest of her offspring, those who keep the commandments of God and bear testimony to Jesus' (Rev. 12:17). The close connection between Mary, the Church, and each member of the faithful, based on the fact that each in his or her own way brings forth Christ, has been beautifully expressed by Blessed Issac of Stella: 'In the inspired Scriptures, what is said in a universal sense of the virgin mother, the Church, is understood in an individual sense of the Virgin Mary...In a way, every Christian is also believed to be a bride of God's word, a mother of Christ, his daughter and sister, at once virginal and fruitful...Christ dwelt for nine months in the tabernacle of Mary's womb. He dwells until the end of the ages in the tabernacle of the Church' faith. He will dwell forever in the knowledge and love of each faithful soul."
